Safety

Statement

A business must produce a written programme to safeguard the safety & health of employees, customers, visitors and members of the public

The Safety, Health and Welfare at Work Act 2005

Section 20

Free safety statements..

When challenged in court you will realise their worth. Our statements, develop specific policies + procedures to protect you and your staff. Simple and straightforward, a practical tool for reducing accidents

Free coaching with every Safety Squad statement

When investigating an accident, HSA inspectors will scrutinise the risk assessment, safety statement, procedures and work practices in use. Safety Squad make sure that these items stand up to examination. The safety statement represents a commitment to safety and should influence all work activities

Employers can be prosecuted if they do not have a safety statement. You must ensure that your safety statement, which includes the risk assessments, is brought to the attention of all employees. We put in place the arrangements needed to show to staff, that hazards have been identified and risks assessed, eliminated or controlled. Join our Safety Squad today.

Risk

Assessments

Employers must examine & identify the hazards in the workplaces. Assess the risks to safety and health at work presented by these hazards. Write down what to do about them

Free risk assessments..

The legal teams in accident claims love poorly completed generic templates. We create live docs that engage staff in safety, improving their skills & competency levels. Staff reduce accidents at work when given responsibility

Free risk assessment coaching sessions

The Safety, Health and Welfare at Work Act 2005

Section 19

Risk assessment is a cornerstone of good health and safety management. All employers regardless of the size of business are required by law to carry out a risk assessment at their place of work and to keep a written record.

Safety Squad concentrate on the significant hazards that could result in serious harm. Be part of your Safety Squad.

We help employers to implement any improvements considered necessary by the risk assessment. Employers often find that changes made to improve workplace safety and health can result in significant improvements to their organization's productivity and financial performance. The results of any risk assessments should be written into the safety statement and reviewed at least annually

Food Safety

What does the enforcement officer look for when assessing food safety?

(e.g. Environmental Health Officer, HSA Inspector)

Training

Food Safety Level 1
- Induction Skills

Food Safety Level 2
- Additional Skills
for Food and Non-Food Handlers
(Food Service, Retail and Manufacturing Sectors)

HACCP
(Hazard Analysis & Critical Control Point)

Protection of Pregnant, Post Natal and Breastfeeding Employees

SHWW (General Application) Regulations
2007. Protection of Pregnant, Post Natal and Breastfeeding Employees

Chapter 2 of Part 6

We ensure welfare protection

Preventive measures improve aspects of pregnancy that may affect work. The Maternity Protection Act provisions & entitlements are understood.

The HSA takes complaints from employees if an employer has not undertaken a risk assessment or provided a safety statement.

Safety Squad keep you safe from such actions.

Pregnancy is a part of normal everyday life; it is not an illness. Many women work during pregnancy and many return to work while they are breastfeeding. Because there are some hazards in the workplace which may affect either the health of the woman or her developing child, an employer has specific responsibilities. Become part of your Safety Squad

As the earliest stages of pregnancy are the most critical ones for the developing child, it is in the employee's interest to let her employer know she is pregnant as soon as possible. We help you do the right things. Regulation 24 requires an employer to ensure that affected employees are able to lie down to rest in appropriate conditions.
